D. J. Kaufman Is the Man Who Sells the Clothing

That's backed by the guarantee of

Money's Worth or Money Back

It's the finest clothing in the world—clothing that is absolutely unequalled for quality—style—workmanship and fit—HONEST CLOTHING—honest through and through—and at the lowest prices in the District. We're having the most remarkable selling of our career on these

Magnificent
Twenty Dollar
Suits and Overcoats

$15.15

Look around—make comparisons. We know you can't match these garments in the District, even at $20.00.

We're selling hundreds of these Suits and Overcoats at $15.15—and what is most astonishing, we're also selling so many of the finer grades of

Suits and Overcoats at $20, $25, and $28.75

Which are even better values in proportion—if that were possible—than the $15.15 lines.

Why Morning Advertisements Are Preferred by the Shopper

BECAUSE—The psychological moment to reach the buyer is when she is fresh from a night's rest, ready for whatever offers; undisturbed by others.

BECAUSE—At night the majority of women are too tired in mind and body to read the papers carefully, or give due thought to what is read.

BECAUSE—As a rule, the morning papers are better printed, making the reading easier and clearer.

BECAUSE—Women want the "last" and "best" word in offerings many of us have an impression they are to be found, usually, in the morning papers.

BECAUSE—The part of wisdom for the advertiser is to reach the buyer early, before the daily, numerous appeals have absorbed a part, at least, of her funds.

BECAUSE—In these days all want to read the war news first thing in the morning—some women read the paper before breakfast—so, if the equally interesting topic of "special offerings" in the shops strike the eye—to read is to act; i.e. move on the enemy in the war of bargains—and move first.

PLAN OF ARMY STAFF MAY NOT BE PUBLISHED

Defense League Wants Recommendations Made Public Through President.

Whether the report of the general staff of the army, submitting a plan for meeting what it considers to be the military needs of the country, is to be made public or not rests with President Wilson.

It became known yesterday that the War Department is willing to make the report public, but is unable to do so without the permission of the President himself. The publication of the report, however, is recommended as to new military policy was held up for weeks after the details of Secretary Daniels' reorganization program were published by direction of the White House, and the general staff's report will not be published at all unless the President directs Secretary Garrison authority to do so.

Secretary Garrison said that he had not received the letter sent him by the American Defense Society, asking that the public be given the report of the general staff. When the letter is brought to him he will refer it to the request it contains to the President.

The staff recommended a regular army of 225,000 men, with a six-year enlistment, two years of the colors and four years on furlough, thus providing for the accumulation and maintenance of a reserve of approximately 450,000 men.

Dr. Mees Gives Federal Photographers Benefit of His Tests Which Produced New System.

Dr. C. E. Kenneth Mees, director of the research laboratory of the Eastman Kodak Company, at Rochester, N. Y., delivered an illustrated lecture on "The Fundamentals of Photography" before the Society of Federal Photographers in the auditorium of the National Museum last night.

Dr. Mees explained the process of color photography, which he invented, and discussed technical matters relating to the light sensitiveness of silver, the properties of the various chemicals used in photography, the choice of printing paper, and the length of exposure.

The Society of Federal Photographers is the only one of its kind in the world, so far as is known. Its work is similar to that of the Royal Photographic Society of Great Britain. It was organized last year, and its members are the government departments, and besides Prof. Mees, its officers are H. T. Cowling, of the Department of the Interior, vice president, and P. B. Kays, of the Navy Department, secretary. Prof. T. W. Smiley, of the Smithsonian Institution, is honorary president.

In connection with the lecture of Dr. Mees, Will H. Towles, a professional portrait photographer, has an exhibit open to the public at Niépold's Art Store, 1005 H street northwest.
